You won't go wrong. This book is no exception. An elderly family member is facing choices about whether to enter long term care. We needed to know all the ins and outs of various options, including Medicaid, Medicare, and veterans benefits. This book covers everything of importance in clear, concise text. One problem in a situation like this is that the "experts", like the case managers and social workers at hospitals and nursing homes, seldom have the time or incentive to tell you the whole story. It's up to you to figure out what your options are, and what protections you have. This book covers all of the bases in clear, understandable language. Important note: several laws and regulations regarding transfer of assets and Medicaid/MediCal coverage eligibility changed in early 2006. Make sure you understand the current laws. This book was published in late 2006 and is very up-to-date. Like I said, another winner from Nolo. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Well explained and documented book By Anilkumar U. Patel The author explained a complex system in plain English. This is a must read prior to planning for or buying long term care insurance. 6 of 7 people found the following review helpful. Everyone Should Read This By Lynne Pearce I am a senior citizen. That's the age you might think this book should be read. I wish everyone would read it by the time they are 30 years old, start doing research for their future, and, can understand why they need to begin a savings account for thier future. I had no idea what a CCRC was before I purchased this book. I now live in one, and, believe that I am extremely lucky to be here. There is so much helpful information in this book. Everyone would benefit from it.

Finding the right kind of long-term care, in the right place, often requires making difficult decisions in difficult times. Choose the Right Long-Term Care helps you understand the many alternatives to nursing facilities and shows you how to fit the care you need to the funds you have available. Learn how to: *Arrange Home Care Understand what home care can do, what kind of care is available where you live, and how to arrange for services. *Find a Non-Nursing Facility Residence Learn about the many varieties of independent living and assisted living residential care communities, and how to choose one that matches your needs and budget. *Choose a Nursing Home If you need a nursing facility, find out what to look for and how to assess the quality of care. *Get the Most out of Medicare, Medicaid and Other Benefit Programs Understand the regulations concerning benefit programs, what they cover and how to qualify for them. *Evaluate Long-Term Care Insurance Find out whether long-term care insurance is a good investment for you. *Protect Some of Your Assets Avoid draining your life savings and losing your home as you cover the costs of long-term care. The completely updated 4th edition provides all new information about estate planning, plus a new chapter on the special care needs of elders with Alzheimer's Disease and other forms of mental disorientation. With sensitivity and clarity, Attorney Joseph Matthews gives you all the information necessary to help plan for and make the best arrangements for long-term care.
