strongly object to jumping on a person as a proper alert. Jumping up is dangerous behavior. People can be hurt doing that. I am asking the dog to mouth, but not grip a dowel attached to her waist as an alert. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Good information if you need a Hearing Service Dog By Rod Fairly informative book. Would be better for a novice but I still learned a thing or two..lol. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Lend me "Your Ears" By TJ Excellent guide for someone who is hearing impaired (or knows someone who is) and wants to acquire a dog to assist them in day to day activities. Keep in mind that no two people will think alike when it comes to selecting and training a dog as a pet let alone as a Service Dog so an open mind is a must when reading through this manual. It will help the reader and either reinforce what is already known or educate them on items to concentrate on during the selection and training process. I found it helpful as I worked with my dog even though I worked with K-9's in the Army and was familiar with some of the processes. It gave me some added insight not only in what I needed but also what my "buddy" would need. Highly recommend as a supplement to any training program. Remember, any dog can be trained to perform IF the trainer/handler has the patience to train and shows the love for the pup. The pup will return the love a hundred fold and you will will enjoy each others company for a long, long time. Good luck and God speed.

Anyone with a hearing problem can keep their independence and be safer with a hearing ear dog. Learn how to select and train a dog to become a treasured companion as well as a life-saver with Lend Me an Ear.
