Not only is Marianne McKiernan a good writer, but she gets into the head of the main character and tells a tale through the eyes of a dog effortlessly. Well done! 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. like dogs, or think dogs are clever humans in ...By LJLauren If you have ever considered raising an assistance dog, this book is for you - or if you have had a dog, want a dog, like dogs, or think dogs are clever humans in fur suits, then buy this book. I trained an assistance dog for CCI years back and my experiences were very close to the ones described in this book. It is fun to read, clever and bittersweet. I shed a tear or two (or three...) but I 'barked' with laughter at times. Do you see that button that says 'buy now'. Click it, Hurry! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A Tail Wagging Excellent Read By Sandra L. Goga I wanted to read this book because I had a Canine Companions For Independence (CCI) change of career dog who helped give my life meaning again after losing my beloved Mother in a car accident. I have been watching breeders raising puppies on the Internet. I made many new friends including many puppy raisers who suggested this book. This book has everything in it. You will laugh at the stories as told through the service puppy in training eyes. You will cry at the stories of turning in the puppy. You will cry yet marvel at the stories of people with service dogs. You will learn about dogs and how to raise a service dog. The book is informative, fun, and emotional. Kudos to Marianne for capturing the spirit of our beloved dogs. You will see the life of a Service Dog through new eyes. You will respect, love, and see through new eyes the dedication and devotion of a selfless puppy raiser. You will cry, you will laugh, you will learn. Don't miss this read. I give it an excellent five star read!

You see a working dog in a cape and you wonder: Can I pet him? How did he get to be so well-trained? Is he happy? In Let the Dogs Speak! four puppies tell their funny, suspenseful, and heartwarming tales of just how it all goes down as they train for the opportunity to be service dogs for Canine Companions for Independence. Follow Hudson, Parker, Ross and Mars on their journeys, with each puppy providing a uniquely hilarious spin on things. Which of the four dogs will make it? Readers can't help but root for the pups to succeed and graduate as service dogs.

About the Author Marianne McKiernan, a two-time Emmy award winning producer, has been involved with Canine Companions for Independence since October of 2001, when she received her first puppy in training. Along with her husband, John, she has raised eight Canine Companion pups, and counting. The true authors of the book are Hudson, Parker, Ross and Mars as they relayed their stories to Marianne. About Canine Companions for Independence Founded in 1975, Canine Companions for Independence is a non-profit organization that enhances the lives of people with disabilities by providing highly trained assistance dogs and ongoing support to ensure quality partnerships.
