Regretfully, the continued violence and intolerance in the Muslim world bears out the message being communicated by Mr Catherwood that there is more to come. The crusades were inexcusable and shameful but they cannot be undone and they happened a long, long time ago. They would not be condoned by any Christian church today. It is time for the muslim world to turn the page and step into the 21st century instead of trying to go back to the future. The sheer violence between their own factions is unbelievable and yet there is not a whisper of condemnation from the Muslims clerics! Not sure where it will all end. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. An eye opener

By Kent F. Cohea We are still dealing with those who want to use God as an excuse to murder innocent people to this day. But, the history of God warfare goes back to the beginning of time. You may think you know about this topic, but you really don't. Great research and easy to read. Catherwood is a wonderful historian writer very even handed. 0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Interesting

From Islam declaring Jihad against the west, to Arab against Jew, to Catholic against Protestant, one question resonates with the global threat we face today: Why does God inspire the killing of Man? Renowned historian Christopher Catherwood vividly recounts a saga of passion and prejudice that laid the foundation for our own troubled age. Beginning with the death in 632 of Muhammad--as much political leader and general as prophet--Islam commenced its breathtaking spread, which, under Muhammad's successors, eventually conquered an empire larger than Rome's. Even as this vast realm broke apart into Sunni and Shiite factions, the Christian retaliation--ruthlessly and unscrupulously unleashed in 1095 with the First Crusade--sparked a clash between East and West that continues to this day. The pattern would repeat itself again and again: with the Ottoman invasion of the Balkans, in which the same Islamic faith that had once been an institution of tolerance in places like Spain became an instrument of expansion; with the wars of the Reformation, when Catholic and Protestant slaughtered each other in the name of the Prince of Peace; and with the endless conflicts of today's Middle East, savagely fought over by three faiths that all worship the same God. Based on exhaustive research and written with an unflinching, unbiased eye toward revealing the often painful truth, Making War in the Name of God unveils humanity's ancient habit of sanctifying bloodshed--and exposes a past that we forget at our peril. Christopher Catherwood teaches history at Cambridge University in England and at the University of Richmond (Virginia). A fellow of the Royal Historical Society, he is the author of several acclaimed books, including Churchill's Folly: How Winston Churchill Created Modern Iraq, A God Divided: Understanding the Differences Between Islam, Christianity, and Judaism, and Whose Side Is God On?
